BIOGRAPHY

Having spent over 25 years negotiating and litigating a wide array of commercial real estate and business transactions, Brad brings a wealth of practical knowledge coupled with a pragmatic, solution-oriented approach to each matter he handles for his clients.

Brad serves as outside counsel to local, regional and national real estate owners and investors in a wide variety of real estate matters across the country, including the acquisition, development, management and disposition of office buildings, industrial and warehousing facilities, retail centers, mixed-use projects, resort properties, and telecommunication sites. In addition, he regularly represents private health care companies, hospital systems, physicians and dentists in the purchase, sale, development, management and leasing of healthcare properties, including medical and dental offices, surgery centers and other facilities. He also represents clients in negotiations with state and local government for the development and operation of projects involving tax credits, zoning and other land use matters.

Brad and his wife, Stephanie, currently reside in Atlanta, Georgia with their four daughters. He is an avid football fan that enjoys officiating during his free time.
